

Cookies Policy

1. Introduction

This Cookies Policy explains how we, along with our authorized service providers, use cookies, web beacons, and similar technologies when you visit or interact with our websites or services. These technologies help us provide a better, faster, and safer experience and allow us to use the data for advertising and analytics purposes. We have implemented security measures to protect cookie data from unauthorized access, ensuring only us and our authorized service providers can access it.

2. What are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files stored on your device when you visit a website. They contain data that is unique to each visitor and website, allowing the server to tailor content to you specifically. Cookies facilitate smooth transitions between pages, preserve your preferences, and track your usage across sessions or related websites.

Cookies can be categorized as either "persistent" or "session" cookies:

- Persistent cookies remain on your browser until their set expiration date or until you delete them.
- Session cookies expire when you close your browser.

Cookies usually do not contain personally identifiable information, but data we store about you may be linked to the information stored in cookies.

3. Types of Cookies Used

We use both first-party and third-party cookies on our websites:

- First-party cookies are set and controlled by us. These include:
  - Storing visitor preferences
  - Collecting analytics data (e.g., user behavior)
- Third-party cookies are set by external organizations we partner with. These include:
  - Google Analytics: This service tracks how long you spend on our site and which pages you visit, allowing us to improve the user experience. For more information, visit the Google Analytics page.
  - Social Media Cookies: We use plugins from Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, and Instagram that allow you to connect with your social media accounts. These cookies may contribute to your profile on those sites and are subject to the respective platform's privacy policies.

4. How We Use Cookies

We use cookies for the following purposes: Strictly Necessary Cookies are essential for the performance of our websites, ensuring they function correctly. Performance and Functionality Cookies recognize you when you return, remembering your preferences and settings. Analytical or Customization Cookies track how users access and move through the website, helping us make improvements. Advertising Cookies personalize the advertisements displayed on our site, making them more relevant to you.

5. Managing Cookies

You have full control over your cookie preferences:

- Browser Settings: You can manage or delete cookies by adjusting the settings in your browser. This includes blocking cookies, clearing browsing history, or managing site-specific cookies. However, blocking cookies may affect the functionality of our website, and some features may not work properly.

To manage cookies in popular browsers, please visit the following pages:

- Google Chrome: Clear, enable, and manage cookies in Chrome
- Microsoft Edge: Delete and manage cookies

6. Your Choice

By accessing our website, you consent to the use of cookies and similar technologies. You may manage or control these settings through your browser as outlined above. To proceed, click "I agree."

7. Amendment of this Policy

We may review and amend this Cookies Policy as necessary to comply with regulatory requirements or guidelines. Any changes will be reflected in an updated policy available on our website.

8. Specific Cookies Used

Below are examples of the cookies we use on our website:

Name:	Domain	Description
AWSALBCORS	Amazon load balancer	provide load balancing functionality.
PHPSESSID	PHP	this is a general purpose PHP identifier used to maintain user session variables.
AWSALB	Amazon load balancer	sticky session for load balancing

Please note that disabling cookies may impact your ability to use some of our services and functionalities.

9. Disclosure of Personal Data

While cookies do not typically collect personal information, any personal data collected by us is treated as confidential and may be shared within the Company or with regulatory bodies, law enforcement or other government agencies to comply with legal obligations (e.g. fraud prevention, tax compliance, anti-money laundering etc.) as well as third-party service providers (e.g. payment service providers for facilitating transactions, data reporting service providers etc.) for operational purposes. These third parties are contractually obligated to protect your data in accordance with applicable laws.

Your personal data will only be shared in accordance with our legal and contractual obligations.

This Cookies Policy was last updated on 4th of September 2024.